Company Overview

Yongdae Dried Pollack Agriculture Cooperative was established with investments made by 21 local residents in 2002 and has been operated until now. We directly and hygienically produce dried pollacks in HAPPC facilities and sells them in large markets, Nonghyup and home shopping malls. Dried pollack is an eco-friendly local specialty experiencing consistent growth in sales. We plan to develop, promote and sell a variety of dried pollack products so that brand value can be increased by registering Geographical Indication Collective Mark and selecting Special District.
