Company Overview

While looking for a convenient way to consume 'Cheonggukjang' (fast-fermented soybean paste) in a form of powder considering my experience in manufacturing and researching 'Cheonggukjanng', I did market research to find that there were not many food products in stick-type packaging on the market. Therefore, I took technical advice on the manufacture of stick-type package products using moisture spraying and drying method and succeeded in trying them. Then I saw their potential and decided to start a business.

'Cheonggukjang' (hereafter fermented bean), one of the most representative high-protein fermented foods in Korea, is manufactured as an individually packaged powdered meal in the form of a coffee stick so that it can be easily carried on and consumed.
